Description

UUNET Technologies electronic mail and news services provide a dedicated, accessible, reliable facility for international electronic mail and electronic news, including mail access to the Internet. UUNET offers over 2,300 direct mail connections, acts as an Internet mail forwarder, and offers full or partial news feeds. UUNET also offers over 3 gigabytes of publicly available software via UUCP or 900 number. Specific files from the archive are available on magnetic tape. Domain registration is also available.

UUNET offers commercial Internet access through AlterNet. For more information on AlterNet, please see the AlterNet entry in the Internet Resource Guide.

Network Access

UUNET is on the Internet and UUCP networks. UUNET runs AlterNet a commercial provider of Internet services. UUNET also serves as the principal gateway to European, Australian, Asian and South American UUCP sites.

Who Can Use UUNET

Email and news access is restricted to UUNET subscribers and their correspondents. UUNET's archive can be accessed by Internet sites by anonymous ftp to the host ftp.uu.net. Non-subscribers may access the archive using uucp and the number 1-900-GOT-SRCS. There is a nominal fee to use the 900 number.
